The Boy Burglars Have a Hearing and Some Discharged While Others Are Held.

An Old Charge—A Baptism—A Contest To Be Made for an Alder- man's Seat.

CRIMINAL NOTES.

Special to the Gazette.
WACO, TEX., April 9.—The examining trial of the boy burglars, Willie Gillespie and Lee Stephens, who were arrested last night for entering and stealing goods from the wholesale grocery house of Cameron, Castles & Strong, was commenced at 3 o'clock this afternoon. There are six in the gang, but only three have been arrested. Lee Stephens' mother procured bail for him when he was first arrested, and he utilized his liberty by boarding a train and going to Dallas. A policeman was sent after him, and returned this morning with the juvenile delinquent in custody. These lads all have highly respectable parents, who are plunged in deep grief.

Will Gillespie, who seems to have been the leader of the gang, waived examination and was remanded to jail. The county attorney dismissed the cases against Lee and Babe Stephens, saying he did not believe the evidence sufficient to convict them. Jake Seago and David Berry, two of the boys, are still at large.

Another sensation was caused here this morning by the arrest of Mr. Frank Mobley, a citizen of Waco and a candidate for the office of assessor of taxes of McLennan county. The charge against him is stealing horses, and the date of the alleged offense is twelve years ago, in Lampasas county, where he then resided. The arrest was made very quietly by Sheriff Wolf of Lampasas county. Mr. Mobley's friends here believe him innocent, and Sheriff Wolf says he thinks that a man named Watts, a brother-in-law of Mobley, was probably the real culprit. Watts has left the state, and it is believed Mobley's arrest was made more in the hope of securing Watts than of convicting Mobley. Mr. Mobley has borne an excellent character here and furnished a bond without any trouble.

Sheriff Wolf carried home with him Wm. Presley, who has been confined in the Waco jail for aggravated assault and battery. Presley is wanted at Lampasas for stealing a $20 gold piece. He jumped his bond at Lampasas, and says he is good for the pen, as there is a dead case against him.

POSTAL MATTERS.

Postmaster Gerald sent in his first report to the postoffice department to-day, covering a period of six weeks. The money order receipts during the six weeks were $17,527, and the disbursements $16,033. This indicates a money-order business of over a half million dollars a year at this office. During the six weeks the quantity of Waco publications, newspapers, etc., handled for points outside the county was 61,022 pounds. Postmaster Gerald estimates that during the year the Waco publications will consume over 1,000,000 pounds of white paper. The business of the postoffice is growing so rapidly that an increase of force will be applied for.

Waco has an evangelist—a Baptist minister—whose success bids fair to rival Sam Jones or "Boy-Treacher" Pearson. This is Rev. M. T. Martin. He has just returned from Comanche, where he preached thirty days and baptized 109 converts into the Baptist church, not to mention others who went into other denominations. The list of converts comprised lawyers, merchants, county officials and other prominent men. To-morrow night Mr. Martin opens a meeting at DeLeon, Comanche county, and on Sunday, May 2, at the town of Comanche, he is to baptize, by immersion, one hundred and two converts into the Baptist church. A special pool, eight by sixteen feet, has been prepared for the ceremony.

GENERAL LOCAL REPORTS.
Hugh Mack, white, about forty years old and apparently a railroad laborer, was arrested and jailed to-day as a lunatic. He was at the narrow gauge depot platform with a crowbar, trying to prize up the planks. He insists there is a big sum of money buried under the platform.

The city council met in extra session this afternoon and canvassed the returns of last Tuesday's vote in the municipal election. The mayor and aldermen-elect will be installed on Tuesday night of next week.

One hundred car-loads of freight were received here during last night, via the Missouri Pacific railway. Eighty of the cars were loaded with cotton to be compressed here.

Heavy rains have fallen at intervals all day and more is indicated. This will be bad on the Missouri Pacific track, which is in rather bad condition.

Notice was to-day served on the mayor of a contest in the Fifth ward over the alleged election of Wallace as alderman.

UNABLE TO AGREE.

The Jury in the Wallace Merchant Murder Case Discharged.

Special to the Gazette.
HENRIETTA, TEX., April 9.—Wallace Merchant was placed upon trial about eight days ago for murdering David Kyle in Clay county, and the jury was discharged this morning without returning a verdict. It is reported that eleven of the jurors were for conviction and one for acquittal. Since the jury was discharged one of them who was for conviction made affidavit against J. M. Scott, the one who was for acquittal, for perjury, and Scott's bond was fixed at $1000 for his appearance before Magistrate Ben F. Turner on the coming Monday to stand his examining trial. The Merchant brothers, Houston and Wallace, have made another application for a writ of habeas corpus to B. F. Williams, district judge of Clay county, in order to make another effort to get bail. Bail was refused them about twelve days ago by Judge Williams. No other criminal cases will be tried during the present term of court.

MIDNIGHT ASSASSINS.

A Deputy Sheriff Dangerously Wounded While Guarding Railway Property.

LITTLE ROCK, ARK., April 9.—Between midnight and 1 o'clock this morning Deputy Sheriff Ham Williams, who has had charge of a force of deputies guarding the St. Louis & Iron Mountain round-house and machine shops in Argenta, opposite Little Rock, was approached by F. H. Darley, a leading member of the Knights of Labor, and notified to take his force away or they would be put out. Williams replied: "I'll take you in now." Seizing Darley, he locked him up in one of the rooms. Just then the outlines of twenty or thirty men were seen at a little distance, and Williams ordered them away, saying he was there to guard the property, and would do it if he fell in his tracks.

Some one from the crowd replied: "Well, die then," and an irregular shooting between the deputies and their assailants began. Probably one hundred shots were fired, and Williams was dangerously wounded by a ball in the right side and other portions of the body. The mob soon after fled. It is reported that several were wounded, but if so they were taken away by their comrades. Sheriff Worthen was then telephoned. He hurriedly collected a posse and went over. Near the south end of the Iron Mountain railroad bridge three men were halted and arrested. One, Charles Stepp, had a double-barrel gun. Another named Cook, the ticket agent, was intoxicated and abusive. He was locked up in the bridge ticket office. A strong guard was placed about the round-house and shops. Obtaining an engine house and Williams and the four prisoners were brought to the city. Everything is quiet this morning. Williams' condition is pronounced critical. He is a well-known and very popular man, noted for personal bravery. He is the son of Col. B. D. Williams, formerly superintendent of the Memphis & Little Rock railroad, and a prominent planter.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS.

After the Speech.

LONDON, April 9.—When the applause had subsided after the delivery of Mr. Gladstone's great speech in the house of commons Thursday night, Mr. George (Tito Trevelyan, who recently resigned the position of secretary for Scotland, arose. After extolling Mr. Gladstone's oration, Mr. Trevelyan proceeded to say that he interposed this early in the debate in order to explain the reason of his resignation. He resigned with extreme compunction and regret, although the step when finally decided upon was taken with neither doubt as to its propriety, nor with the least hesitation. He had no need of the cabinet because, as he considered at the time, to have remained outside would have been tantamount to a confession that the Liberal party was a home-rule party. This was a confession which he never should be willing to make. He could never consent to such a scheme as Mr. Gladstone had proposed. He had done his best to prevent the Liberals from identifying themselves with the welfare of the country. Not long ago than last June the whole cabinet was of the same opinion as himself. What was it, he would like to know, that had happened since to change them? The only security, he urged, that parliament would have, according to Mr. Gladstone's plan, for the money they would be called upon to vote for the purchase of the Irish landlord estates, would be the willingness of the Irish farmers to keep up their payments. How much dependence could be placed upon—

The speaker at this point interrupted Mr. Trevelyan and reminded him that no landlord scheme had yet been submitted to parliament.

Mr. Trevelyan acknowledged the correction and proceeded with his speech by asking how long it would be if the measure that had been submitted should become a law before the Irish contribution to the imperial exchequer would be denounced by the Irish and reprobated as an English tribute? For my part, I have no hesitation in saying that I think complete separation of Ireland from Great Britain would be preferable to the plan of government that has just been proposed. We should then know the worst at once. As an alternative scheme Mr. Trevelyan said he would propose that the execution of law and the maintenance of order should be retained in the hands of the central government. Then he would propose the creation of certain local bodies, which should be composed of members freely elected. These bodies should be entrusted with and held responsible for many of the subordinate functions of government, such as providing for education, superintending the details of local government, providing for the relief of the poor, and so forth.

At the conclusion of Mr. Trevelyan's speech Mr. Parnell arose, and was received with cheers by the Irish members. He congratulated Mr. Trevelyan on having, like the French general who had successfully defended Paris, his own plan—a plan, however, which did not seem to awaken much enthusiasm in the house. Mr. Trevelyan, he said, had stated what he had left the government, but not why he had resigned his post as chief secretary. (Cheers from the Irish benches.) Mr. Parnell then went on to justify his past utterances and the action which had been impugned by Mr. Trevelyan. Speaking of America and the assassination literature which came from America, Mr. Parnell said that most of the literature was neither American nor Irish literature. If Mr. Trevelyan, he continued, were to study the literature of America at this moment he would find that sympathy for the just settlement of the grievances of Ireland by the concession of a domestic legislature is shown by all classes, whether Irish or native-born Americans, and more especially that the native-born Americans are welcoming the efforts of Mr. Gladstone in the belief that they will bring peace between England and Ireland, and more especially between Irish Americans and English. It is a remarkable fact that the great meetings now being held in favor of an Irish legislature are mainly called together and organized by native-born Americans, by editors and conductors of Irish-American newspapers. We regard the fact that during the last five or six months we have succeeded in entirely gaining the sympathy of the two great parties in America—the Democrats and Republicans—as a good omen for the future. (Cheers.) As to the bill before the house, while reserving his full expression of opinion until he had seen the bill, Mr. Parnell congratulated himself on the fact that there was still living an English statesman who could devote his attention to this momentous matter, and he begged to thank Mr. Gladstone for what would not only prove a beneficial measure from the Irish point of view, but which he (Parnell) believed would be found to be of equal benefit to England. The bill, nevertheless, contained blots which the Irish representatives would do their best to remove.

To Discuss Gladstone's Irish Scheme.

LONDON, April 9.—Mr. Gladstone, although suffering somewhat from fatigue caused by the exertion in the house of commons last evening, is enjoying good health to-day. When Edward Hineage, who last evening resigned the chancellorship of the duchy of Lancaster, entered the house of commons this afternoon he was cheered by the Conservatives. He took a back seat below the gangway. On the opening of the house several Conservatives presented petitions against granting a separate parliament to Ireland. Joseph Chamberlain will be the first speaker in the debate this evening on Gladstone's Irish scheme. He will be followed by Lord Hartington. Sir Mitchell Hicks Beach, the Conservative leader in the house, will have the floor after Lord Hartington. The debate will not be closed to night, but will be postponed until Monday, when it will be resumed after the introduction of the budget, the discussion of which will be adjourned until Tuesday. The conference at Lord Salisbury's residence resolved to support the marquis of Hartington if he opposes Gladstone's Irish policy.

Sir Michael Hicks Beach has arranged to explain in his speech following that of Lord Hartington in the house of commons this evening why the Conservatives desire to maintain the principles declared by Trevelyan last night in reply to Gladstone. Gladstone entered the house at 5 o'clock, and was greeted with loud and hearty cheers by the Parnellite and Radical members.

What the Papers Say.

LONDON, April 9.—The newspapers throughout Great Britain and Ireland comment at great length on Mr. Gladstone's scheme for Irish government.

The Liverpool Post says, that whether Mr. Gladstone is successful or not in carrying his bill through parliament, he has forever killed oppression and coercion in Ireland.

The Manchester Guardian says: It is a scheme substantially for the repeal of the legislative union between Great Britain and Ireland.

The New Castle Journal declares the scheme to be a cumbersome, crude and dangerous one, and certain to be rejected.

The Edinburgh Scotsman says: It is safe to say that the country will not sanction the scheme.

The Edinburgh Daily Review recognizes Mr. Gladstone's pure, lofty, patriotic aims, but says it is disappointed at the exclusion of Irish from the imperial parliament.

The Edinburgh Scottish Reformer comments on the scheme and pleads for Scotch home-rule.

Dispatches from all over Great Britain and Ireland show that everywhere popular interest is absorbed in the outcome of yesterday evening's proceedings in the house of commons. Extra editions of the various daily papers were got out in all the provincial towns as rapidly as the news could be obtained from London and printed, and the sales everywhere are reported as having been enormous.

The country people went into the towns everywhere in the United Kingdom and remained over night to hear the earliest and latest news from parliament.

The Liberal papers, the Aberdeen Free Press, the Glasgow Herald, the Belfast Whig, the Londonderry Standard, all oppose the bill.

The Dublin Irish Times and the Dublin Express both disapprove of it. In Cork there is much excitement over Gladstone's proposals, but the general opinion of the people is favorable to them.

Conservatives in Conference.

LONDON, April 9.—An urgent whip has been issued by the Conservatives, urging all party members to be in their seats in the house of commons this evening in view of the important developments which are likely to occur. The cabinet met at 2 o'clock. A conference of all the members of the late Conservative government was held this afternoon at the residence of the marquis of Salisbury.

CATARRH.

Wonderful to Relate!

"FOR FORTY YEARS I have been a victim to CATARRH—three-fourths of the time a sufferer from EXCRUCIATING PAINS ACROSS MY FOREHEAD AND MY NOSTRILS. The discharges were so offensive that I hesitate to mention it, except for the good it may do some other sufferer. I have spent a young fortune from my earnings during my forty years of suffering to obtain relief from the doctors. I have tried patent medicines—every one I could learn of—from the four corners of the earth, with no relief. And AT LAST (37 years of age) I have met with a remedy that has cured me entirely—made me a new man. I weighed 125 pounds and now weigh 146. I used thirteen bottles of the medicine, and the only regret I have is that being in the humble walks of life I may not have influence to prevail on all catarrh sufferers to use what has cured me.
